

Can I have my own family page

Contributed by Russell Bracewell

Yes. Each member of the site may have their own personal family page. Email one of the administrators to have this feature turned on.

Your family page can include any content you wish to publish. You do not need to know anything about websites to get started. Creating your family page is as simple as typing out an email.

Crating a family page or family website leaves your legacy for the next generation of family members. Family pages allows others to read and see important events in you history.
